Introduction

As a manifestation of 15 years of traceable work in community engagement and global advocacy; The Patson Malisa Foundation is an Organisation designed for the successful implementation of Citizen-oriented and Citizen-Led projects with regards to sustainable economic and social development in the continent of Africa and beyond.

Cognizant of the development visions at national, continental and global platforms with regards to the inclusion of Citizen voices in the global development agenda as is displayed in the adopted Development plans, the Foundation embarks on the responsibility of bridging the gap between the diplomatic process and delivery of the Sustainable Development Agenda to Citizens in Africa and the globe at large.

We are mindful of Africa's Agenda 2063, which instructs in Aspiration 6 that efforts of public and private entities are to strive to produce an Africa where development is people-driven, unleashing the potential of its women and youth. Hence the rallying motto for a people-centred and people-driven Africa.

We acknowledge the growing influence of the African continent on the world stage. Its impact on the Post-2015 Development Agenda's status cannot be ignored. It is therefore our mission to ensure the full engagement of the continent in the realization of goals of development as set in the Post-2015 Development Agenda of the United Nations.

Africa, having experienced over 60 years of defining its democratic and inclusive society, needs as many vehicles as possible for its Citizens to harness the opportunities ahead for the strengthening of the core values instilled by the fathers of our young continent. We believe that our Foundation can be such a vehicle of this order, and thus it is in our mandate to assemble and strengthen the necessary public and private platforms infrastructure for the achievement of national and continental development.

. Our Philosophy

Key Functions of Citizen in Championing Sustainable Development Goals

In order for the Citizen of Africa to realise their effective role as the Champions of Sustainable Development in Africa, it is our belief that the following functions must be adopted and advocated for:

1. Advancing meaningful partnerships with Governments and Civil Society for the realization of sustainable development.

Government and Civil Society have an irrevocable role to play as collaborators in the Sustainable Development Agenda. Both sides of the spectrum have access to constituencies which the other may not have the best of ease if they were to attempt the task in solitude. It is therefore important that civil society, with special emphasis on young people and women, be strategically positioned in both Government as well as Civil Society Organizations for the ensuring of wholesome efforts towards development for all. It is essential that both entities refrain from marginalizing the other when it comes to this matter, and therefore the Foundation will be a key instrument in achieving this much needed balance.

2. The strengthening of Active Citizenry & Civil Society leadership development programs for the empowerment of an effective voice that will adequately serve their constituents.

As an old African proverb says, "Until lions tell their own stories, tales of the hunt shall always glorify the hunter." It is of great importance that ordinary citizens assume ownership of Sustainable Development in their communities, cities, provinces and nations. Without a solid representation of goodwill on the ground, it will be impossible for the structure of well constructed policy frameworks to last. We must ensure that there is an effective mainstreaming of the person on the ground in the consultation process of policy making and adoption, as well as the implementation thereof.

3. Establishment of an efficient succession plan for the assurance of a well established Sustainable Development Framework.

Development cannot be sustainable if it cannot be passed on. It is essential that in our entire decision making, we have the understanding that we are borrowing the earth from our descendants. The power of Citizen is the ability to champion this cause bearing in mind that we are in the process of inheriting the earth from our elders as the focus of development is now sharply turned towards us in our current status. It is therefore with the understanding of the passions, frustrations, hopes and dreams shared among the people of African soil, situated all over the world, that we as leaders champion the improvement of our societies for a better chance at wholesome development for generations to come.

Many battles of development will be overcome in our lifetime. However, the ones that are passed on to the ones who will come after us must not be handed over without providing the necessary empowerment for the championing of development in their day and age. Therefore Sustainable Development will find meaning in our ability to pass on our passion, skills and wisdom onto the next generation.

4 Pillars

The Foundation operates on the strength of 4 pillars in the delivery of our service to the African Continent and its People. Through these pillars, we continuously gauge the quality of our work:

- Consultation
- Efficiency
- Diplomacy
- Accountability

Our Work On The Ground

The Foundation engages with local and international organizations, both public and private, in executing the following functions:

1. Establishment, implementation and management of Sustainable Development Projects in the African continent as a whole.
2. Diplomatic representation and interventions related to local and national government liaison for implementation of Citizen-led Sustainable Development projects in the continent.
3. Facilitation of Contact Programs & Forums in the African Continent for citizen capacity development and mobilization.
4. Investment in the development and preservation of the Arts & Culture of the African Continent

In addition to the bilateral and multilateral work executed, the Foundation serves as the official document library, media archive and official channel of public communication for Patson Malisa.

Funding Structure

The Patson Malisa Foundation is a Private Foundation created with the aim of executing the development & charity work of the chief Patron, manifested legally as The Patson Malisa Foundation Trust. Therefore the funding structure for operations is derived from a privately sourced endowment fund, and not from public fundraising or acceptance of donations from multiple/random sources. The Foundation will however work with its partners to raise funds for causes, development partners and noble grantees whose partnership and parameters of engagement would have been clearly stated, and whose proceeds will go directly to the program/project partners and programs.
